Precisional, LLC is committed to sourcing components and materials from companies that share our values concerning human rights, ethics and environmental responsibility. Precisional, LLC is particularly committed to the ethical sourcing of conflict minerals and compliance with all applicable requirements and regulations impacting conflict minerals supply chains.

On August 22, 2012 the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) published final regulations implementing the conflict minerals reporting obligations under section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act. The Dodd-Frank Act requires that all publicly traded companies subject to SEC rules report annually on the presence of certain minerals, characterized as conflict minerals, including tin, tantalum, tungsten or gold, in the products they manufacture or contract to manufacture and demonstrate the proper level of due diligence in determining whether these minerals originated from the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) or an adjoining country or from scrap or recycled sources. The goal of the act is to cut direct and indirect funding of groups engaged in armed conflict and human rights abuses.

Precisional, LLC does not directly purchase any conflict materials. We require our suppliers of assemblies, parts, and components incorporating conflict materials to create responsible supply chains and to not source materials in violation of the Dodd-Frank Act and implementing regulations, and screen of our suppliers' compliance with these regulatory requirements. Precisional, LLC uses the OECD Due Diligence Framework as part of the due diligence process and encourages its suppliers to use the same to determine the source and chain of custody of the conflict minerals in the assemblies, parts or components they supply to us.
